INTRODUCTION

Knowledge about existing land use and land cover is important for a number of different planning functions, including estimating potential for future urban development and redevelopment, environmental quality analysis (such as surface runoff, wetlands inventories and air quality analyses), and hazard impact work (such as the impact of wildland fires, various toxic gas releases or a major earthquake).

BACKGROUND

Although land use maps of the Bay Area have existed for decades, the effort to create a systematic and routinely updated map of the region began in the mid-1970s.

THE LAND USE DATA (LUDA) PROJECT OF USGS

In the 1970s, a land use classification system was developed by the U.S. Geological Survey for use with remote-sensing techniques and to initiate a nationwide land use mapping program. This project resulted in the preparation of a series of LUDA (Land Use DAta) maps for the entire country. The Bay Area map sheets, ranging in scale form 1:100,000 to 1:250,000, are based on aerial photography from the mid-1970s.

THE LUDA AND SAN MATEO MAPPING EFFORTS IN THE LATE 1970S

San Mateo County was one of the early beneficiaries of land use mapping, both in terms of the efforts made by Survey personnel and ABAG (Napier and others, 1992).

A joint U.S. Geological Survey/San Mateo County project produced a series of land use maps that were compatible with the LUDA maps for the mid-1970s at a scale of 1:24,000. These maps for San Mateo County were digitized by ABAG in 1979.

ABAG'S LAND USE MAPPING WORK IN CORRECTING AND UPDATING THE LUDA MAPS TO 1985

ABAG's efforts to update the regional and San Mateo County LUDA maps began in 1984, in conjunction with a number of different programs, including population projections efforts, earthquake hazard vulnerability analyses, air quality modeling, and work on the San Francisco Estuary Project.

ABAG staff drafted the urban data from the USGS LUDA maps onto mylar overlays registered to 1:24,000 USGS 7.5' quadrangle base maps. The urban areas were updated to a consistent date of March 1985 based on (a) data from ABAG's population and employment projections staff, particularly the "Local Policy Survey" conducted in 1985, (b) interviews with local government planning and building department staff members, and (c) selected field checking, particularly in the areas of strip commercial development.

The resulting urban land use maps for the nine Bay Area counties were digitized by ABAG in 1985 and 1986.

Finally, the original LUDA maps, obtained from USGS in digital form in 1989, were used as the source of the non-urban mapping for all of the Bay Area counties, except San Mateo, where the more detailed mapping was available.

Each time a new use of the map data occurs, some minor revisions and corrections to this 1985 file have been made. For example, when ABAG last updated these files, a significant revision and improvement on the way in which critical facilities are mapped was added.

ABAG'S WORK IN IDENTIFYING 1985 TO 1990 CHANGE AND UPDATING THE LAND USE MAPS

Due to time and manpower constraints, ABAG staff were not able to consult with each city government concerning the changes in each of their spheres of influence as had been done in 1985. In order to determine areas of highest growth, population data from the 1980 and 1990 census were compared. Once the changes in population in each Bay Area census tract had been determined, areas of significant population growth and decline were identified.

This process was made more complex because of difficulties in changing from 1980 to 1990 census tract boundaries. Late 1989 and early 1990 air photographs shot from medium altitude (with a scale of 1:3,000) were used to pinpoint and identify land use changes in these areas of highest growth. While the use of air photos greatly speeded up what would have been a long and laborious task, it is often difficult to distinguish between different uses with similar patterns of development (such as light industrial and retail repair shops). In addition, while large changes were easily identified, small changes were more problematical. Again, USGS 7.5' quadrangles were used as base maps.

ABAG anticipates updating the map to 1995 by 1997.

DEVELOPMENT OF DIGITAL DATA

In 1975, ABAG began the development of a series of computer-based map files to provide information for use in its environmental, earthquake safety and other planning programs. The system of files and software are ABAG's in-house geographic information system (GIS) called BASIS, for Bay Area Spatial Information System.

The technique used to convert the hard-copy maps to digital form is commonly referred to as chain or arc digitizing. The chain data were converted to a system of grid cells, each with an area of one hectare (2.5 acres), using a Universal Transverse Mercator (UTM) grid base.

Some details of the 1:24,000 scale mapping are lost in this process.

1985 TO 1990 LAND USE CHANGE

One of the benefits of keeping the same land use mapping system has been the potential to identify areas of significant change.

There was an explosion of growth in industrial land use in the Milpitas area. Land which in 1985 was classified as "Marsh" or "Sparsely Vegetated" now is utilized mostly by "Light Industry."

East of Fremont is an area that was once used as a golf course. It is now one of the few areas surrounding the Bay which is, for the most part, being allowed to revert into "Marsh." The current owner is now in final negotiations with the city and federal officials on an arrangement that would allow him to fill and build on one section of the land and then sell the rest to park officials.

The largest share of new homes were built inland on the East Bay. For example, Blackhawk experienced significant growth. Where there was once only a few hundred Dwelling Units (DUs), there are now thousands of DUs and a golf course.

In urban areas such as San Francisco, San Jose, and Oakland, growth can usually be attributed to the densification and infill of previously existing residential and commercial areas. There was one major exception to this in San Francisco at First and Embarcadero. In this area, land use has changed from "Infrastructure" to "Mixed Housing/Commercial."

For the most part, main routes of vehicular thoroughfare were unchanged. The exceptions are those areas that were damaged in 1989 by the Loma Prieta earthquake, and the new section of Interstate 580 that leads to the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge. In general, the just-completed section of Interstate 580 was constructed on railway thoroughfare.

The old site of Marine World-Africa USA near Redwood City had not been completely redeveloped by 1990. The development that has occurred has been in "Office," not "Residential." The new site of this recreational area is adjacent to the Solano County Fairgrounds in Vallejo.

THE LAND USE CLASSIFICATION SYSTEM

In 1976, the U.S. Geological Survey published a numerical land-use classification system designed to meet the varied needs of federal, state, regional, county and local governments (Anderson and others, 1976).

In this "nested" classification system, four levels of numerical subdivision are used to express various levels of detail of map data. One digit subdivisions, such as "1, Urban or Built-Up Areas," are designed to capture data that could be obtained from satellite images and that might be of interest to federal and state agencies. Two digit subdivisions, such as "12, Commercial and Services," are designed to capture data that could be obtained from aerial photographs and that might be of interest to state or regional agencies. Three digit subdivisions, such as "123, Education," are designed to capture data that could be obtained from more detailed aerial photographs with some field checking and that might be of interest to county or regional agencies. Four digit subdivisions, such as "1231, Elementary and Secondary Schools" often require field checking and are of most interest to local governments.

In this information age, the more detailed inventory data can be successfully utilized by regional, state and federal agencies. The classification system remains a useful tool of collecting and categorizing data, however. The categories used by ABAG are included in Table 1.

MAP USES

The digital map file is currently used as one component in ABAG's land use Projections effort. In addition, the data are used by the Bay Area Air Quality Management District in modeling non-point source pollutants. The data were used in the Status and Trends report on Land Use and Population for the San Francisco Estuary Project, and have been used by others in surface runoff or non-point water pollution models. Finally, the residential data were a major component in ABAG's recent report on Estimates of Uninhabitable Dwelling Units in Future Earthquakes Affecting the San Francisco Bay Region. Similar regional efforts are appropriate.

However, because the map is regional in scope and because the data shown are generalized to area averages, the map file should not be used to determine the land use at individual locations.

DESCRIPTION OF LAND USE CLASSIFICATION CATEGORIES

A. CATEGORY 1 – URBAN AND BUILT-UP

Category 11 – Residential

Residential areas are delineated to include houses, apartments, garages, sheds, lawn and streets, and can be considered a basis for gross, rather than net, residential acres. Any area of 2.5 acre (one hectare) or more where dwelling units predominate is mapped as residential.[1]

In the nine county Bay Area, ABAG has subdivided the residential areas into three categories based on density (using the metric hectare which equals 2.47 acres) and a fourth based on structural type. The dwelling unit per hectare value is determined as follows:

Residential density = (structures/hectare) x (units/structure) = units/hectare

The resulting subdivisions of residential use are:
111 -- One and Under Dwelling Units (DUs) per Hectare (approx. 2 to 5 acre lots)
112 -- Two to Eight DUs per Hectare (approx. 1/3 to 1 acre lots)
113 -- Nine and Over DUs per Hectare (less than 1/3 acre lots)
114 -- Mobile Home Parks (technically a part of 113 but listed separately)

Category 12 -- Commercial and Services

There are a number of types of these facilities, ranging from retail commercial, to military, to educational.

121 -- Retail and Wholesale
This category includes central business districts, as well as shopping centers, commercial strip development, auto salvage operations and motels.

122 -- Commercial Outdoor Recreation
This category includes intensive areas of recreation which cover a minimum of one hectare, including golf course club houses, tennis courts, amusement parks and drive-in theaters.

---

[1] When creating a "total residential" value, it is useful to view:

- category 111 as 10% category 11 and 90% category 17 (urban open)
- category 112 as 50% category 11 and 50% category 17 (urban open)
- categories 113 and 114 as category 11
- category 1234 (university housing) as category 11
- category 1251 (military housing) as category 11

123 -- Education

This category includes all public and private schools, including pre-schools and subsidiary land uses (such as parking, administrative structures, recreation areas and dormitories). Seminaries and novitiates are also included. Some churches and synagogues may be included in this category in San Mateo County. The category is further subdivided, when the information is available, into:

1231 -- Elementary and Secondary Schools
1232 -- Colleges and Universities
1233 -- Stadium
1234 -- University Housing

124 -- Hospitals, Rehabilitation Centers and Other Public Facilities

Included in this category are all hospitals, medical centers, mental health centers, sanitariums, and convalescent centers that meet the one hectare size specification.

1241 -- Hospital Trauma Centers (designated centers)
1242 -- Community Hospitals (not designated trauma certers)
1243 -- Medical Long-Term Care Facilities
1244 -- Medical Clinics (not used)
1245 -- Home Health Care Facilities (not used)
1246 -- Out-Patient Surgery Centers
1247 -- State Prisons
1248 -- State Mental Health and Developmentally Disabled Facilities
1249 -- Psychiatric Facilities

125 -- Military Installations[2]

All areas which reflect military use such as armories, national guard centers, firing ranges, barracks and arsenals have been mapped in this category. Subdivisions of these areas are:

1251 -- Military Residential
1252 -- Military Commercial/Services
1253 -- General Military Use
1254 -- Military Hospital
1255 -- Military Communications
1256 -- Military Airport
1257 -- Military Open Areas

126 -- Other Public Institutions and Facilities

This category includes government facilities of one hectare or more. Such occurrences may be libraries, post offices, police and fire stations, city and county government complexes, and state and federal facilities. Eight additional types of facilities have been included:

1261 -- Stadium (when not associated with a college or university)
1262 -- Churches and Synagogues

[2] Both categories 1257 (military open) and 1255 (military communications) can be included with category 17 (urban open) when generalizing these data. Category 1251 (military residential) can be included with category 11 (residential).

126 -- Other Public Institutions and Facilities
This category includes government facilities of one hectare or more. Such occurrences may be libraries, post offices, police and fire stations, city and county government complexes, and state and federal facilities. Eight additional types of facilities have been included:

- 1261 -- Stadium (when not associated with a college or university)
- 1262 -- Churches and Synagogues
- 1263 -- Fire Station
- 1264 -- Police Station
- 1265 -- City Hall or County Government Center
- 1266 -- Local Government Emergency Operations Center (EOC)
- 1267 -- Local Jails or Rehabilitation Centers
- 1268 -- Convention Centers

127 -- Research Centers
Research centers are research offices and laboratories that meet the minimum size requirements.

128 -- Offices
Offices are professional centers that meet the minimum size requirements.

129 -- Hotels
In certain parts of the Bay Area, particularly in San Francisco, areas predominately composed of hotels have been mapped.

Category 13 -- Industrial

This category includes both heavy and light industry.

In the nine-county Bay Area, industrial use has been separated into these two uses based both on the type of production and the product manufactured. For example, the manufacturing of locomotives would be considered heavy industrial, whereas the manufacturing of model trains would be considered light industrial.

131 -- Heavy Industry
These industrial activities are devoted to heavy fabrication, making and assembling parts which are, in themselves, large and heavy, or to the processing of basic raw materials. Most industries in this category involve mechanical, chemical or heat processing. Although salt evaporation ponds along San Francisco Bay might be considered part of this category, they are considered a part of "63 -- Salt Evaporation Ponds" for purposes of this mapping effort.

132 -- Light Industry
These industrial activities include the design, assembly, finishing and packaging of products, rather than with processing basic raw materials. Typical industries in this category include electronics firms, small textile mills, warehousing, and assembly plants. These facilities have been mapped along with associated parking lots and grounds.

Category 14 -- Transportation, Communication and Utilities

This category includes the various infrastructure systems.

141 -- Highways
Highways and interchanges which meet a 55-yard (50-meter) minimum mapping specification have been mapped. Both paved areas and adjacent rights-of-way are included.

142 -- Railways
Railroad tracks have been mapped when they meet a 55-yard (50-meter) minimum mapping specification. Also included are switching yards, terminals, classification yards and maintenance yards.

143 -- Airports
Air strips, both public and private, are included. Also included is all land related to airport operations.

144 -- Ports
This category is characterized by port or dock facilities and associated warehouses and storage areas. This category also includes passenger terminals, slips and associated parking areas.

145 -- Power Transmission
All power transmission lines meeting a 55-yard (50-meter) minimum mapping specification have been mapped. Power substations not associated with industrial activities and covering one hectare have been mapped in this category, as well.

146 -- Sewage Treatment Plants
These facilities have been identified downstream or downhill from municipal areas, as opposed to water treatment facilities which are uphill. (Any water treatment facilities have been included as part of "Category 14.")

147 -- Covered Water Reservoirs
These facilities have been identified in certain central urban areas.

Category 15 -- Commercial and Industrial Complexes

Areas of mixed use, as well as areas of multiple uses within a single structure, have been placed in one of two categories. Mixed industrial and commercial areas have been included in this category. Mixed residential and commercial areas have been included as part of Category 16:

Category 16 -- Mixed Urban and Built-Up Land

Mixed residential and commercial uses, whether in an area or within a single structure, have been placed in this category. Mixed land use is common in areas converting from residential to commercial. Also, rural centers often are too small to map separately as commercial or residential.

161 -- Transitional (mixed use of land areas)
162 -- Mixed Use In Buildings

Category 17 -- Other Urban and Built-Up Land

Areas that have been affected by urban development but with minimal paving and buildings are included in this category.[3]

171 -- Extensive Recreation
Included in this category are athletic fields and playgrounds. When available, two subdivisions are shown:

- 1711 -- Golf Courses (the extensive, not the intensive, portion -- thus, the golf clubhouse is usually shown as Category 122)
- 1712 -- Racetracks

172 -- Cemeteries
Public, private and military cemeteries are included.

173 -- Parks
All leisure, ornamental, zoological and botanical parks are included when the use is apparent. However, areas of extensive tree cover may be classified as forest.

174 -- Open Space--Urban
Undeveloped urban parks, vacant lots and open areas slated for urban renewal or redevelopment are shown in this category.

175 -- Urban Vacant Land
Selected land that has been developed as an urban use and is currently vacant but is planned for redevelopment is shown in this category.

[3] Note: for purposes of obtaining a general "urban open" total, Subdivisions 1255 (Military Communications), 1257 (Military Open), 90% of 111 (Rural Residential), and 50% of 112 (Low-Density Residential) can be included in this category.

B. CATEGORY 2 – AGRICULTURAL LAND

Category 21 – Cropland and Pasture

Included in this category are harvested, idle, and cultivated cropland, as well as pasture. Level III and IV categories that have been mapped in San Mateo County only:

211 -- Cropland
    2111 -- Irrigated
    2112 -- Non-Irrigated

212 -- Pasture

Category 22 -- Orchards, Groves, Vineyards, Nurseries and Ornamental Horticulture Areas

This land produces most of the various nut and fruit crops. Horticulture areas include greenhouses, floriculture areas, and sod farms used year after year for these purposes. Level III categories that have been mapped in San Mateo County only include:

221 -- Orchards or Groves
222 -- Vineyards and Kiwi Fruit
223 -- Greenhouses and Floriculture

Category 23 -- Confined Feeding

Included in this category are large poultry farms, as well as hog and cattle feedlots. The use is characterized by large animal populations in confined areas with many associated buildings, fences, and waste disposal areas.

Category 24 -- Farmsteads and Other Agriculture

The largest component of this land use is inactive farm land.

C. CATEGORY 3 -- RANGELAND

This division of land use includes areas where the natural vegetation is largely grasses and grass-like plants, shrub and brush, and chaparral.

Category 31 -- Herbaceous Rangeland

Category 32 -- Shrub and Brush Rangeland

Level III categories that have been mapped in San Mateo County only include:
321 -- Chaparral
322 -- Coastal Shrub

Category 33 -- Mixed Rangeland

D. CATEGORY 4 -- FOREST LAND

Category 41 -- Deciduous Forest

These areas include the forested areas in which deciduous trees (those loosing their leaves in a dormant season) predominate.

Category 42 -- Evergreen Forest

These areas include the forested areas in which evergreen trees (those which remain green throughout the year) predominate. Level III categories that have been mapped in San Mateo County only include:
421 -- Redwood and Douglas Fir
422 -- Pine
423 -- Evergreen Mix

Category 43 -- Mixed Forest

These areas include both deciduous and evergreen trees. Neither predominates.

E. CATEGORY 5 – WATER

These areas include those locations in the general land mass predominately covered by water with a minimum mapped width of approximately 55 yards (50 meters).

Category 51 -- Streams and Canals

Category 52 – Lakes

Category 53 – Reservoirs

Category 54 -- Bays and Estuaries

Category 55 -- Sedimentation Ponds

Category 56 -- Water on USGS Base Maps but Land on USGS Land Use Maps

This category includes those areas depicted as water on the USGS 7.5' quadrangle maps, but shown as land on the USGS LUDA maps. This category, along with Category 64, were created to deal with discrepancies which occur in the mapping of the land-water boundary on these two data sources.

F. CATEGORY 6 – WETLANDS

These areas have been mapped by the U.S. Geological Survey using criteria developed in their national land use mapping program. The mapping was developed to indicate general land use patterns, not specifically to identify wetlands areas. Mapping completed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and referenced in the Wetlands Status and Trends Report of the San Francisco Estuary Project (SFEP) is a more appropriate source of this type of information, both because wetlands that are smaller in extent have been identified, and because the categories are more comprehensive. No attempt has been made to integrate the wetlands mapped by the Fish and Wildlife Service into the land use maps; by maintaining two separate sources of maps, wetlands present in areas dominated by another land use (such as industrial) can be identified. For more information on wetlands mapping, see the Wetlands Status and Trends Report.

Category 61 -- Forested Wetlands

According to USGS, "Forested Wetlands are wetlands dominated by woody vegetation. Forested Wetlands includes seasonally flooded bottomland hardwoods, mangrove swamps, shrub swamps, and wooded swamps including those around bogs" (Anderson and others, 1976). Within the land use study area, the only type of forested wetlands are those classified in the Wetlands Status and Trends Report as "Riparian Forest" or "Palustrine Wooded Vegetation."

Category 62 -- Nonforested Wetlands

According to USGS, "Nonforested Wetlands are dominated by wetland herbaceous vegetation or are nonvegetated. These wetlands include tidal and nontidal fresh, brackish, and salt marshes and nonvegetated flats and also freshwater meadows, wet prairies, and open bogs" (Anderson and others, 1976). This category includes those classified in the Wetlands Status and Trends Report as tidal and freshwater marshes, as well as seasonal and diked ponds and marshes.

Category 63 -- Salt Evaporation Ponds

Wetlands along San Francisco Bay used for the production of salt. This category includes those lands classified as "Salt Evaporators" or "Lacustrine Non-Vegetated Diked" in the Wetlands Status and Trends Report.

Category 64 -- Land on USGS Base Maps but Water on USGS Land Use Maps

This category includes those areas depicted as land on the USGS 7.5' quadrangle maps, but shown as water on the USGS LUDA maps. This category, along with Category 64, were created to deal with discrepancies which occur in the mapping of the land-water boundary on these two data sources.

G. CATEGORY 7 – SPARSELY VEGETATED LAND

These areas have limited ability to support life and are characterized by a general absence of vegetation. The U.S. Geological Survey terms this category "Barren Land."

Category 71 – Salt Flats

These areas are generally dry, as opposed to the salt evaporation ponds in the Bay Area, which have been mapped as Category 63.

Category 72 -- Beaches

This category includes the smooth, gently sloping areas of sand and gravel in shoreline areas.

Category 73 -- Sand Other than Beaches

This category includes non-beach sand, or dunes.

Category 74 – Bare Exposed Rock

Included are bedrock exposures, talus slopes and other non-vegetated rock.

Category 75 -- Strip Mines, Quarries and Gravel Pits

The decision was made to include these areas of extractive mining as a subdivision of barren land rather than of urban or built-up land.

Category 76 -- Transitional Areas

These areas of sparsely vegetated land are characterized by having an urban component of use. When the information is available, they have been subdivided into:

761 -- Sanitary Land Fills
762 -- Other Transitional

Category 77 -- Mixed Sparsely Vegetated Land

This category is used when a variety of sparsely vegetated land types occur, or when the appropriate subcategory could not be identified. The U.S. Geological Survey terms this category "Mixed Barren Land."

H. TUNDRA (CATEGORY 8) AND PERENNIAL SNOW OR ICE (CATEGORY 9)

Although these categories are not present in the Bay Area, they are present in the Central Valley watershed (in portions of the Sierra Nevada, Cascade and Trinity Mountains which drain into the Central Valley and from there into San Francisco Bay). Subdivisions of these categories mapped by the U.S Geological Survey in the LUDA map set include:

Category 81 - Shrub and Brush Tundra

Category 82 - Herbaceous Tundra

Category 83 - Bare Ground

Category 84 - Wet Tundra

Category 85 - Mixed Tundra

Category 91 - Perennial Snowfields

Category 92 - Glaciers
